

The Good News

Written by Philip C. Vinson
Sunday, 29 June 2008 18:42 -

Where Christ once walked and preached we now must go, Because the good news, He wants everyone to know.
Unless we take the good news to everyone, Then they will never hear of God's Son.
Be not afraid to take the good news, Take it to the hurting and the abused.
Christ will be with you all the way,
He will never forsake you, not for one day.
Jesus came and died for us all, His all He gave, And if they repent I will be there to save.
There are some that will hear and still will not obey, What I have commanded, what I had to say.

It is not My will that any perish, Because every soul I love and cherish.
The good news must be proclaimed to all, I don't want one soul to be lost or fall.
Are we doing what we can to get the good news to all?
Those in the gutter, all must hear, it is our call.
There are so many dying each day that have not heard, Take them the good news, take them My Word.
Go and tell everyone Jesus cried,
Have we done our part, have we really tried?
With everyone working together the job will get done, And by the good news they will know sin they must shun.
Go and tell all nations what I have said, I have risen, I am not dead.
Every minute counts, every minute you must use, Go and tell them, tell them the good news.