Does it seem those around you are doing fine, And your troubles just keep mounting all the time?
You may never know what they are going though, Remember they have problems, too.
Does it seem so long since your prayer has been heard?
Hold on to the promises that are found in His word.
Your situation is different to you it seems, Jesus will help you, for He has the means.
Does it seem there is never any joy and peace, And the things going on in your life will never cease?
Hold on, maybe your blessing will come on the morrow, Then you can help others in their time of sorrow.
Do things in your past still haunt you?
You tried everything, and don't know what else to do.
When satan keeps reminding you of your past, His time is coming; your troubles will not always last.
Does every day turn out bad?
You wish you could die you are so depressed and sad, You just hope there will be a better day tomorrow, And all it did was bring more sorrow.
Does it seem you are being driven right into the ground, And you are so far down you will never be found?
Jesus knows exactly where you are.
Hold on to your faith, you will be better off by far.
Are the dark clouds in your life beginning to form And then without warning there is a storm?
If they have persecuted Me, they will persecute you. But I will be with you always, I will see you through.
